The days of mystery and mysticis m are no more. Modern science has completely unveiled the hidden secrets of hypnotism, personal magnetism, magnetic healing and all kindred forces. Every one possesses latent hypnotic power, and it only requires proper instruction and a little practice to develop it.

develop it.

Within recent years so much has been said and written about hypnotism that the American Scientific Society determined to ascertain just what this force is, how and by whom it may be used and what benefits are to be expected therefrom. For this purpose a committee was appointed composed of ten well-known citizens of as many different States. That the investigation might be as thorough as possible persons were selected from various walks of life, that each might determine the relative value of hypnotism in his special line of work. The members of the committee are highly respectable and persons whose veracity and integrity are above reproach. No such thorough investigation of hypnotism and allied phenomena has ever before been made, and we must accept the report of the nomena has ever before been made, and we must accept the report of the committee in regard to the value of this marvellous power as final.

THE COMMITTEE MASTERS HYPNOTISM.

The members of the committee (with the exception of Dr. Gibbons) ar I see new uses and possibilities for the New York Institute of Science is not and noble work in disseminating a knowledge of this force so that they might know, from personal experience, the good or evil this strange power might produce and the various uses to which it might be put. Several schools were found which advertised instruction, but the only one that was indorsed by colleges and universities was the New York Institute of Science, of Rochester, which was especially chartered by the State of New York for the purpose of acquainting the public with scientific hypnotism. The committee wrote to this institution and received full and complete instruction in all the phases of this marvellous science. They had no trouble whatever in mastering them, and in a very short time all were full fledged hypnotists.

REMARKABLE EXPERIENCES.

The results of the practical investigation were startling and thrilling to a high degree. It was clearly demonstrated that, by the late methods, it is unnecessary to put a person into a sleep before being able to direct his thoughts and actions, but this-may be accomplished while the person is fully awake, with his eyes wide open, and, in many cases, practically instantaneously; and, if so desired, in such a manner that the person operated that he has been hyperatived.

stantaneously; and, if so desired, in such a manner that the person operated upon does not dream that he has been hypnotized.

Louis S. Durbec in three sittings completely and permanently cured an habitual drunkard, a man who had been in the habit of getting intoxicated several times a month for more than ten years. He now has no desire for liquor whatever; in fact, the very sight of it makes him deathly sick. Mr. Durbec also hypnotized his own son, who did not like to study nor go to school, and completely changed the boy's disposition so that the boy has now become one of the most studious children in the entire school.

Jacob Rodrain, Jr., concluded to try personal magnetism upon his business associates, and to use his own words, "People who apparently seemed indifferent to me before now greet me with all the warmth of good friendship. I find it invaluable is my business. I have cured a number of diseases, and I regard hypnotism as the most wonderful discovery of modern science."

Mr. M. B. Furry placed his wife in a deep hypnotic condition a few minutes after reading the instructions, and obtained information of a most starfling character. She accurately described things which were happening starfling character. She accurately described things which were happening at a distance, and about which she seemed to have had no previous personal knowledge. She could see the workings of the brain and nerves and distinguish clearly the outlines of every hone and muscle in another's body.

Dr. R. J. Gibbons is President of the Gibbons School of Stammering.

He has devoted years to the study of hypnotism, but he also took the instruction sent out by the New York Institute of Science and studied it carefully to see if any new discoveries had been made. He states that this instruction is by far the most practical and comprehensive of any that he has ever seen, and he attributes the marvellous success of the members of the committee to these late methods of hypnotism. He states that by the older methods he doubts if any of the members would have been at all successful in the short time devoted to the subject. Dr. Gibbons has all successful in the short time devoted to the subject. Dr. Gibbons has cured hundreds of cases of the most obstinate chronic complaints by the simple application of hypnotic suggestion. He cures stammering when all

They have, however, reported them to the New York Institute of Science, and those interested may obtain them in printed form by addressing this institution.

Anybody can learn. With the book will be sent the individual statements of all the members of the committee regarding their practical experience with hypnotism, and the opinions and experiences of a large number of scientists and physicians in regard to this wonderful power.
